FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

URADICS IT Finishing Institute

Ahmedabad, Guj, September 7, 2007 -- URADICS is one of its kind IT finishing institute, with the main aim to reduce the employability gap among students. A finishing school is one, which emphasizes training in cultural and social activities. URADICS will train the students technically and at the same time also instil soft skills in them.

IT industry is on an upswing and as a result of that there is huge demand for skilled manpower in the country. Unfortunately, companies are not able to get steady supply of manpower as per their standards and requirements. The issue is not that the students are not technically trained but they are not employable as per their requirements. Realizing this huge demand by the industry and with the motive to help students have a promising career, URADICS has started its operations as a finishing institute to groom the students in such a way that they become employable.

"We are here to bridge the gap. We want to add value to the high standards of our country's education system" says Pulkit Agrawal, Director of URADICS. URADICS has its own unique way to groom the students and it has excellent infrastructure facilities and learning environment, high speed Internet access, and reputed faculty from the industry.

About URADICS

URADICS, an IT finishing institute provides high end training in verticals related to IT, to make the students employable. Driven by high demand in the current industry; URADICS's innovative methods of grooming also promises a progressing career for its students.
